

The 12th National Conference on Wind Engineering (NCWE-2027), to be held under the aegis of Indian Society For Wind Engineering (ISWE), and hosted by CSIR-Central Building Research Institute (CSIR-CBRI) Roorkee, aims to bring together leading researchers, academicians, industry experts, and professionals to discuss recent advances, emerging challenges, and innovative solutions in wind engineering. Building on the legacy of previous NCWE editions, this conference will serve as a national platform to exchange knowledge on structural safety, wind-structure interaction, resilience, and cutting-edge computational and experimental techniques. NCWE 2027 reflects CBRI's commitment to advancing scientific research, fostering collaboration, and supporting the development of wind-resilient infrastructure in India.

About ISWE

The Indian Society for Wind Engineering (ISWE) was founded in 1993 and at present has 500+ members. The main activities of ISWE are aimed at bringing under one umbrella, all the academicians, researchers, industry, personnel and students to discuss various aspects of wind engineering problems and to provide innovative technical solutions for the industry.
